The following disclaimer and disclosures are for use with all BNY Mellon Capital Markets, LLC ("Capital Markets - US") Material and may be supplemented with (i) product-specific disclaimers set out in the Product-Specific Disclaimers sections below and/or (ii) type of material disclaimers set out in the Material-Specific Disclaimers sections below.

BNY Mellon Capital Markets, LLC ("Capital Markets") is a full-service registered broker-dealer and an indirect wholly owned non-bank subsidiary of The Bank of New York Mellon Corporation ("BNY Mellon"). BNY Mellon and its affiliates lend and provide other products and services to issuers and others, and provide and receive related fees and compensation. Capital Markets is a member of FINRA and SIPC, which protects securities customers of its members up to $500,000 (including $250,000 for claims for cash). Explanatory brochure available upon request or at www.sipc.org. SIPC does not protect against loss due to market fluctuation. SIPC protection is not the same as, and should not be confused with, FDIC insurance.

This material is for reference purposes only and not intended to be a recommendation with respect to, or solicitation or offer to buy or sell, any particular financial instrument, including but not limited to, any municipal bond, or to participate in any particular trading strategy and is not tax, legal, investment or accounting advice. Nor is it an offer or solicitation in any jurisdiction in which such an offer or solicitation would be illegal. Capital Markets does not make representations as to the actual value to be received in connection with a transaction. Although information is from sources believed reliable, there is no understanding or warranty that the information or data contained herein are subject to change without notice. Difficulties in the mortgage and broader credit markets have led to a substantial decrease in the availability of credit. The extent and duration of any future continued weakening of U.S. and global credit and financial markets, higher costs of borrowing, and disruptions in debt and equity markets potentially make it more difficult to liquidate an investment, or determine the impact, if any, on the performance of particular issuers or securities. A client should not enter into any transactions unless it has fully understood all risks and that not all investments will be suitable, and has independently determined that such transactions are appropriate, for the client. Prices may fluctuate and it is possible that such fluctuations may be substantial in response to many factors including, without limitation, general economic conditions, market conditions, and changes in the industry to company specific conditions. Past performance is not a guide to future performance of any instrument, transaction or financial structure, and a loss of original capital may occur.

Fixed Income Securities. Fixed income investments, including municipal bonds, are subject to various risks including changes in interest rates, call features, credit quality, possible default, difficulty in market valuations, liquidity, prepayments, early redemption, tax ramifications, inflation and other factors.

Floating Rates. Investment in any floating rate instrument presents unique risks, including the discontinuation of the floating rate reference or any successors or fallbacks thereto. Capital Markets does not guarantee and is not responsible for the availability or continued existence of a floating rate reference associated with any particular instrument. Before investing in any floating rate instrument, please evaluate the risks independently with your financial, tax and other advisors as you deem necessary.

Treasury and Government Agency Obligations. Not all obligations of the U.S. government or its agencies and instrumentalities are backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Treasury. In addition, if not held to maturity, prices will rise and fall on interest rate movements in response to economic conditions.

Corporate Debt. Corporate debt securities are subject to risks including, but not limited to: early call or redemption risk, reinvestment risk, interest rate risk, credit risk, event risk, sector risk or market risk.

Commercial Paper. Commercial paper, an unsecured, short-term debt instrument, is not usually backed by any form of collateral, and although there may be back up lines of credit or back up liquidity, may still be subject to default by the issuer.

Certificates of Deposit. Certificates of Deposit are most suitable for holding until maturity. Early withdrawal of any CD may not be available and may be subject to applicable penalties.

CDs: Limits on FDIC Insurance. If you have or will have money on deposit (such as a savings account) at the same insured institution that issues the CDs, the total value of your deposit accounts could exceed the amount of FDIC insurance to which your deposits (including CDs) are entitled.

Yankee CDs/No FDIC Insurance. Yankee CDs are not FDIC insured in whole or in part.

Money Market Mutual Funds and Ultra Short Bond Funds. Money market funds generally only invest in certain high-quality, short-term investments issued by the U.S. government, U.S. corporations and state and local governments and are subject to strict diversification and maturity standards. Ultra-short bond funds are not subject to these requirements. The net asset value (NAV) of an ultra-short bond fund will fluctuate, while money market funds seek to maintain a stable NAV of $1 per share, although there is no guarantee that they will achieve this goal.

Not acting as Municipal Advisor, Financial Advisor or Fiduciary: Capital Markets is providing the information contained in this document for discussion purposes only in anticipation of serving as a municipal advisor, financial advisor or fiduciary to the addressee and is not recommending any action to the addressee. The primary role of Capital Markets, as Underwriter, is to sell and purchase securities, as applicable, to and from investors, in arm's length commercial transactions; Capital Markets has financial and other interests that differ from those of the addressee. As such, Capital Markets is not acting as a municipal advisor, financial advisor or fiduciary to the addressee or any other person or entity in connection with the information provided. The information provided is not intended to be and should not be construed as "advice" within the meaning of Section 15B of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or the rules thereunder. The addressee should consult with its own financial and/or municipal, legal, accounting, tax and other advisors, as applicable, to the extent it deems appropriate. If the addressee would like a municipal advisor in a transaction that has legal fiduciary duties to the addressee, then the addressee is free to engage a municipal advisor to serve in that capacity. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Capital Markets is registered as a municipal advisor and may, from time to time, act as a municipal advisor with respect to municipal issuers and their investments. Issuers should contact their Capital Markets representative to discuss an engagement with Capital Markets as a municipal advisor.

Mutual Funds. Before investing in mutual funds, it is important to understand the sales charges, expenses, and management fees that you will be charged, as well as any available volume-based breakpoint discounts, and whether the mutual fund's investment strategy is compatible with your investment objectives.

Equity Securities. Prices may fluctuate and it is possible that such fluctuations may be substantial in response to many factors including, without limitation, general market and market sector conditions, U.S. and global, in addition to company specific conditions. Dividends are not guaranteed and are subject to change or elimination.

Exchange-Traded Funds (ETFs). ETFs generally represent an interest in a portfolio of securities and/or commodities, subjecting the investor to a substantial loss in principal and income due to market risk, interest rate risk, liquidity risk, currency exchange risk, and risks specific to a particular sector.

Options. Options carry a high level of risk and are not suitable for all investors. An option holder may lose the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time and an options writer may incur significant loss if the price of the underlying instrument declines.

Investment Banking and Public Finance. The Company should discuss any financial instrument offering, engagement, or relationship with its own counsel and financial advisors. Capital Markets does not provide tax, legal, or accounting advice, and any information provided by Capital Markets does not include the legal, tax or accounting effects of consummating any transaction.

No Tax, Legal or Accounting Advice. Capital Markets does not provide tax, legal, or accounting advice. You should independently and carefully consider whether any information or investment instruments are suitable for your particular investment objectives and financial position and, if you believe it appropriate, seek professional advice, including tax, legal and accounting advice.

Past performance is not indicative of nor a guarantee of future performance and a loss of original capital may occur. You should not enter into any transactions unless you have fully understood all risks, that not all investments will be suitable, and you have independently determined that such transactions are appropriate, for you. Investing in securities involves risk, including loss of the principal amount invested. Additional information is provided on FINRA's Web site at <https://www.finra.org/investors/learn-to-invest/kev-investing-concepts/evaluating-investment-performance>.

Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS). Potential issuers of securities should discuss any financial instrument offering, engagement, or relationship with their own counsel and financial advisors. Beginning in the second half of 2007, difficulties in the mortgage and broader credit markets led to a substantial decrease in the availability of credit. As a result, U.S., European and global credit and financial markets have been, and are, experiencing difficulties. The extent and duration of any future continued weakening of these markets, higher costs of borrowing, and disruptions in debt and equity markets may potentially make it more difficult to issue a financial instrument, exit an investment or define the impact, if any, on the performance and prospects of particular issuers or securities. There can be no assurance that any of the government or private sector initiatives designed to strengthen the condition of the credit markets will be successful, and there is no way to know the effect that these initiatives will have on the performance of any particular securities or issuers. Only GNMA is backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government. Securities issued by Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and MBS in general have recently experienced volatility and other increased risks due to homeowner defaults and severe problems in the housing market.

Structured products are not suitable for all investors. Structured products are subject to special risks and considerations. All relevant offering documents including, but not limited to, term sheets and prospectuses should be consulted and understood prior to investing. Investors should understand characteristics, risks, and potential rewards. Investors should contact their own accounting, tax or legal advisors to review the suitability of any investment.
